Landscape, natural forms, water and light are the subjects on which my work is based. I believe these interests stem from my earliest childhood memories of the high Cotswolds, seaside holidays and the influence first of my Nanny and later my parents - all of whom were keen gardeners and nature lovers ☞

I use a variety of printmaking techniques Limited editions are from collagraphs, lino or wood blocks, etchings and wood engravings. Monoprints are often free-form and textured with collaged layers of printed images, frottages, natural forms, oil crayons and paint ☞

I like to experiment with photography and unconventional ways of making and printing blocks. Unexpected results from these often provide starting points for new work ☞

The printing process itself is a constant source of fascination. The challenge is to invent new ways of making plates that can be inked in several ways with many colours ☞

I was Chair of the Friends of the Hatton Gallery Newcastle upon Tyne from 1998-2004 ☞
