

May Snaddon

Graduated in drawing and painting from Edinburgh College of Art. She taught in Secondary Schools for a number of years before leaving to raise a family and explore her painting again. Returned to teaching part time and now visits Primary Schools as a Specialist Art Teacher.

This is a demanding job but doing it part time allows time to still create her own work.

May paints mainly in watercolour and oils. She loves to work outdoors when the weather permits but is also happy to work in the studio from photographs or memory. She also paints to commission in most media and subject areas.

May also tutors an evening class for adults. She takes pupils for private tuition and organises one day workshops in her local area, mostly during the summer months.

Twice a year May takes off for some part of Scotland to judge SWRI art proficiency tests. She enjoys this as it allows visiting parts of Scotland she might not otherwise see, and she takes a great deal of pleasure in seeing such a variety of work in many styles.
